

GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY

J. Mack Robinson College of Business, Department of Computer Information Systems Department Chair

GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY invites applications from current GSU faculty to become the Chair of the Department of Computer Information Systems at Georgia State University's J. Mack Robinson College of Business. Appointments to be made effective Fall 2016.

ABOUT THE ENVIRONMENT – The Robinson College of Business Department of Computer Information Systems is one of the best units of its kind in the world. It has a distinguished history of serving students, alumni, and the profession. In 2016, the department's MS in Information Systems graduate program was ranked 12th by U.S. News & World Report, and in 2015 the department's undergraduate program ranked 11th by US News & World Report. The research productivity of the faculty members of the Department in the disciplines top three journals ranks them 7th in the world over the most recent five year time period according to the University of Texas at Dallas.

In addition to the department's BBA and MS degrees in Information Systems, the department also offers an undergraduate minor in information systems and a highly innovative MS in Information Systems Audit and Control. Departmental faculty members play a significant role in offering courses in the college's MBA and Executive Doctorate in Business programs. The department has a robust and well-regarded Ph.D. program.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS - Qualified candidates will have a doctorate in information systems or related field. The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to direct a department that attracts world-class scholars and researchers, to create and oversee the offering of innovative academic programs, and to create and develop the relationships, internally and externally necessary to advance the department. Candidates must demonstrate the potential to assume the key leadership position that oversees a very accomplished faculty. Salary, teaching loads, and other types of support are competitive with other research universities.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Preference will be given to applications received by September 10, 2015. To apply, a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three recommendation letters, teaching evaluations if any, and copies of publications should be submitted in PDF form via email to Nate Bennett, Associate Dean and Search Committee Chair, nate@gsu.edu.

A diverse campus culture- It's who we are and what we value
Georgia State University is an equal opportunity educational institution and an affirmative action employer.