

Department of Risk Management and Insurance
J. Mack Robinson College of Business
GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY

Candidates are sought for appointment as an academic professional in Robinson's nationally ranked Department of Risk Management and Insurance to assist the Department Chair in directing external relations for the Department. This position will report to the Chair and will oversee the many outreach initiatives of the Department, including student recruiting both locally and nationally; forging and maintaining relationships with companies and organizations to recruit our graduates both locally and nationally; designing, marketing, and implementing non-degree executive education programs; and serving as project manager for numerous departmental initiatives. Candidates must have a relevant terminal degree, significant management and business development experience within one or more of the industries for which risk management expertise is a critical capability, and successful teaching experience.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE:

Please direct all application materials including current resume, statement of interest, and evidence of teaching performance as indicated above to Academicjobonline.org. Documents should be submitted electronically. Application review will begin immediately but the position will remain open until a suitable candidate is found.

Georgia State University is an AA/EEO employer.
