OTHER WAYS TO GIVE

State support, student tuition, and fees cover less than two-thirds of the resources needed to deliver Georgia State University's high-quality education at an affordable cost. This means that our program needs the help of private support for funding, and students rely on the generosity of the college community to help them realize their dreams. The investment you make with your gifts to support scholarships, academic programs, faculty development, community engagement, and other priorities is greatly appreciated.
