Veronica Caputo

Managing Director
Grant Thornton

Veronica Caputo is a managing director in Grant Thornton's Atlanta State and Local Tax (SALT) Practice. She has more than 20 years of tax experience in both public accounting and private industry. She has served both large multistate and multinational corporations in the manufacturing, consumer products, wholesale, retail, financial services, and pharmaceutical industries.

Her practice concentrations include multistate corporate income and franchise tax planning, accounting for income taxes and uncertain tax positions, compliance and refund reviews, audit defense, nexus studies, voluntary disclosure agreement negotiations to minimize state tax exposure, and credits and incentives.

Prior to joining Grant Thornton, Caputo spent seven years with a Big Four public accounting firm and also spent seven years in industry. Her roles in industry broadened her skill set, as she was responsible for federal income tax, sales and use tax, local gross receipts tax, and personal property taxes.

Caputo is an adjunct professor at the Robinson College of Business. She earned an M.S. in taxation from Villanova University and a B.S. in accounting from Bloomsburg University.
