The concept everyone should grasp is that diversity is not just a matter of color, in positions of power or across the board. It’s about creating an environment where people feel included, whether they are in tech, medicine, or any other sector.

Bonika Wilson, Invest Atlanta chief equity and inclusion officer, says this is what makes Atlanta unique. The city is home to a large tech sector and the city’s diversity, two characteristics of Atlanta: local tech sector and the city’s diversity, two de...